

Frustrate Attempt To Destroy Family

Police and Hounds Seek Men Who Burned Home of Family Near Watertown.

CUT OFF WOMAN'S HAIR

Fiends, Surprised at Work, Threaten to Slay Woman if She Gives Alarm.

By United Press Leased Wire
Watertown, Wis.—Mrs. Max Schlosser's appearance at the front door of her home, seven miles south of here on the Coffee-road, early Tuesday morning, probably prevented the family from being wiped out by fire, started by three men for motives of revenge, according to Sheriff W. A. Woolf.

Mrs. Schlosser was seized by the men, her hair hacked off with a butcher knife and sent back into the house with orders to "keep her damned mouth shut or she would have her head cut off." Thirty minutes later the whole front of the house was in flames and the Schlossers barely had time to remove a few of their household effects before the house was destroyed.

Bloodhounds today were placed on the trail of the three men suspected of the crime. The hounds arrived at noon and it was feared they would have difficulty in picking up the scent because of the run which fell Wednesday and last night.

One Man Watched
Sheriff Woolf has one man under surveillance and arrests may be made late Thursday, it was said.

The sheriff is certain Mrs. Schlosser appeared at the front door as the three men were saturating the place with oil intent upon destroying the house and Schlosser, his wife and baby asleep inside. The men interrupted by their task, seized the woman and cut off her hair for the purpose of frightening her into silence.

An oil can containing a small amount of kerosene was found near the ruins of the house by the sheriff yesterday and supports his theory that the men intended destroying the house and family when interrupted by Mrs. Schlosser.

Fear New Attack
Schlosser, aroused by the cries of his wife, reached the front porch in time to see what he believed were three men disappearing in the darkness. He fired twice at them with a shotgun.

The Schlossers retired to their bedroom and shut themselves in, fearing a return of the men whom they believed were bandits bent on robbery. Thirty minutes later the fire was discovered.

Sheriff Woolf believes the fire may have been started simultaneously with the appearance of Mrs. Schlosser and that the woman in her excitement failed to notice the blaze. Jefferson county officials refused to make any comment upon the motive for the crime other than to express the belief it was for revenge and that arrests were likely to follow shortly.

Landis Orders Building Trades To Clean House

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—"If you don't change some of your working agreements," Judge Landis told building trades employees and contractors Thursday, "you'll all be in jail. And I'll be there also for having anything to do with you."

Landis is the arbitrator in the building trades dispute which tied up millions of dollars worth of construction and thrown thousands out of work for weeks.

The judge ordered both sides to clean house before bringing their troubles to him.

The judge hit the agreements of the plumbers' union which prohibits the members riding to work. Pay starts when the plumber leaves home.

He also scored steam fitter contractors for their rule against allowing an employer to make a contract. This is done to kill competition.

The judge gave contractors and employees until Monday to change their rules.

"If you don't I'll quit this job," he said. "Your rules violate the laws. You're not going to drag me to jail with you."

PAYS $3,000 FOR FOUR "WORTHLESS" POSTAGE STAMPS

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee, Wis.—Four air plane postage stamps brought $3,000 in a sale made here during the convention of the National Philatelic Society, Allen Logan, Kansas City collector, secured the stamps from Eugene Klein, Philadelphia stamp broker.

The stamps are rare because of a mistake in printing. The airplane in the design was inverted. The error was discovered after the first sheet of 100 stamps had been printed.

WILL SUE RAIL COMPANY BECAUSE HE WAS ARRESTED

Janesville, Wis.—Loren D. Houck, will file a damage suit against the Northwestern road as the result of his arrest at Fond du Lac on the charge of stealing $4,000 in gems in the trunk of a jewelry salesman.

Houck will base his suit on the mistake he alleges the baggageman at Plymouth made. Houck said he pointed out his own trunk as the one to be checked to Fond du Lac but the baggageman checked the jewelry salesman's trunk instead. When Houck sought his trunk at Fond du Lac, he was arrested.

Find Body Of Missing Priest In Small Cave

Vague Clue Leads to Discovery That Priest, Held for Ransom, Had Been Murdered and Body Buried in Cave.

By M. D. Tracer
San Francisco, Calif.—Father Patrick Heslin, kidnapped priest of Colma, Calif., has been found—murdered. Six men early Thursday dug his crumpled body from a rude grave in a tiny cave on the windswept cliffs of Salada beach, some 30 miles south of San Francisco.

Not a man in the party knew Father Heslin in life but identification was certain because:

The body was shrouded in a cask of broadcloth.

On it was a medal, bearing the likeness of Christ on one side and on the other the blessed Virgin Mary.

In a little cave was the sacred host Father Heslin had taken from his home at Colma a week ago Tuesday night for use in the last sacrament he had been called by his kidnappers to administer "to a dying friend."

William Hightower, a mechanic, furnished the clue which led to the discovery and guided the searchers

200 MILLION IS NEEDED TO SETTLE WITH RAILROADS

Administration Railroad Credit Bill May Be Postponed Until December.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Congress will be called on to appropriate $200,000,000 to make final settlements between the government and the railroads, Director General Davis told the senate interstate commerce committee Thursday in continuing his testimony on the administration's railroad credit bill.

Davis said "the end of liquidation of federal control is in sight." By December 31, 1922, he said, "everything but some 'tag ends' ought to be settled up."

The committee agreed to decide Thursday on whether it would go ahead with the administration's railroad plan now, or postpone it until December.

The possibility of postponement grew out of a stormy session when Senator LaFollette, Wisconsin, demanded that former director General McAdoo and Hines be called before the committee in advance of any report of the administration.

Senator Kellogg, Minnesota objected, intimating that LaFollette was trying to delay the bill.

Senator Townsend, acting chairman, said he would not consent to calling "the stock list of witnesses who support and oppose every proposition" but added he would not object to hearing McAdoo, Hines and any others who might help the committee in arriving at the proper conclusion on the bill.

Disabled Vet To Get Square Deal--Forbes

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—"Tell the disabled soldier that he is going to get a square deal from a new deck. Warn the veterans that have been preyed upon the veterans' misfortunes that they will be destroyed."

This was the gist of the message sent Thursday through the United Press to soldier veterans by Col. Charles R. Forbes, director of the new veterans bureau.

In his first official pronouncement since taking office, Colonel Forbes laid down three cardinal principles. That it is the duty of the government not only to equip a disabled soldier to make the best living in the highest profession of which he is capable, but that responsibility of the government towards its soldier claimants cannot be delegated to private persons and that disabled soldiers are wards of the government and as such must and will be protected.

Forbes will leave Washington within ten days and visit each of the 600 institutions now caring for veterans.

The results of his personal investigations will decide what places are to be closed up, which to be cleaned up and those which will be pronounced "fit homes for heroes."

Two Michigan Cities Without Street Cars

By United Press Leased Wire
Bay City, Mich.—This city and its neighbor, Saginaw, took the jitney route to work Thursday.

Every street car in the two cities was rolled into the barns. They will remain there until further orders from the United States district court which Wednesday appointed a receiver for the railway company operating in the two cities. Otto Schupp, president of the Bank of Saginaw was appointed receiver.

The railway company claims it has been operating at a loss for years.

Urges Zone Fares
Cleveland, Ohio.—Street railways face ruin unless the zone fare system is put in operation, Peter Witt, foremost traction expert of the country said Thursday.

The street car companies at Des Moines and Bay City, Mich., were forced to quit because the value of a dollar changed, prices soared and fares remained the same," said Witt. "When relief did come, it came too late."

600 MILLIONS TO BE CUT FROM INCOME TAXES

Slight Reduction in Nation's Tax Budget Is Proposed by Administration.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1921, by Post, Pub. Co.
Washington.—The American people will have their first cut in taxes since the European war when they make out their income tax returns next March. President Harding and Secretary Mellon, as well as Republican leaders in congress, mindful of the overwhelming opinion which demands that government expenses be cut and taxes reduced have outlined a program which represents a net reduction of $600,000,000 in the amounts that must be raised by direct taxation.

Mr. Harding and the secretary of the treasury stand in the president's shoes of the executive offices and outlined to the correspondents the nature of the changes in the tax program.

Chairman Joseph Forney, of the ways and means committee, and Republican leader Frank Mondell also stood by ready to answer questions and explain the figures. The picture was one of absolute informality, the president having asked his colleagues to stay in the room with him and submit to interrogation so that the public might have no misapprehensions about the tax program.

In order best to understand the changes that have been made the following table summarizes the data given out by the president and the secretary of the treasury.

Amount estimated two weeks ago by Secretary Mellon as necessary to run the government $4,554,000,000.

Amount now officially estimated as budget, $4,054,000,000.

Net reduction in estimates, $500,000,000.

How it Was Done

How was that $500,000,000 cut in estimates accomplished? The president simply insisted that the various government departments cut their requests for money still further than they have.

Furthermore, certain sums which were falling due this year which were expected to be paid out of new revenues will be deferred.

So the analysis of the $500,000,000 reduction in estimates is as follows:

Amount by which government departments will reduce their appropriations, $250,000,000.

Amount of floating debt to be deferred, $170,000,000.

Total $420,000,000.

The floating debt referred to above consists of about $100,000,000 in war savings securities and $70,000,000 in what is known as floating debt certificates.

As a matter of fact this total of $170,000,000 was incurred during the war and is to be regarded as a part of the war debt. There wasn't any more reason in Mr. Mellon's opinion for paying that $170,000,000 out of new revenues than paying off Liberty bonds.

Of course such part of the $170,000,000 as falls due during the year will be paid out of sinking fund or other available funds. It isn't quite such a large amount but what it can be handled satisfactorily. So it was cut out of the estimates of new revenue.

$600,000,000 Less Taxes

The most important announcement made was that the actual tax burden of the people will be $3,075,000,000. This is about $600,000,000 less than it has been under the present law.

That means the government must raise $595,000,000 from other sources than income taxes. Here is how that is to be done:

Revenue from present tariff $300,000,000.

Back taxes unpaid or evaded, $100,000,000.

Salvage of government property, $140,000,000.

Increased revenue expected from new tariff, $70,000,000.

Usual miscellaneous receipts into treasury, $349,000,000.

Total from sources other than income taxes, $859,000,000.

Now examining the item of $3,075,000,000, which is to be collected in income taxes from the people, the government proposes to readjust taxes in various ways.

In the first place the excess profits tax will be repealed so as to be effective from last January. Business men making out their income taxes for the year 1921 can forget about excess profits taxes.

Harding Issues Call For Disarm Meeting

Formal Invitation to Meet in Washington Goes From American Capital.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—President Harding's formal call for the Washington disarmament and Pacific conference was sent out to the various powers invited to the parley Thursday.

After presenting the invitations to the ambassadors Thursday, the text of the invitation will be made public by Secretary of State Hughes.

With the issuance of the invitations, Hughes faced three problems in connection with the conference. They are:

1—Whether an agenda outlining the scope of the Pacific and Far Eastern discussions in the parley can be successfully agreed upon before the opening of the conference.

2—The fight which has already broken out over the question of publicity for the conference.

3—The apparently strong possibility that has now arisen that the premier of Great Britain, France and Italy may not come to the parley, which might open the way for suggestions that these powers were giving it only secondary attention.

Favors Publicity
President Harding favors publicity for the work of the disarmament conference, though not to the extent of opening all its deliberations and sessions to the public as demanded by Senators Johnson and Borah.

This was the president's attitude as he expressed it to Borah at the White House today.

"I think the people ought to be in the line of the whole proceedings," Harding indicated he thought Borah's program of complete open sessions went too far. Borah said Harding's program of partial publicity did not go far enough and served notice he and Senator Johnson intended to stir up a public demand for open sessions.

The president also indicated that practical difficulties in the form of opposition from foreign governments represented at the conference would have to be given much consideration in deciding to what degree the deliberations would be made public.

Find New Motive For Slaying Of Kennedy

Scene Designed to Frighten Slain Broker to Marry Mrs. Obenchain Results in Murder, State Charges.

By United Press Leased Wire
Los Angeles, Calif.—The grand jury was ordered convened at 10 a. m. Thursday to investigate the murder of John Dalton Kennedy, wealthy Los Angeles broker, in connection with whose death Madalynne Obenchain and Arthur C. Burch are held.

Four new witnesses, heretofore unnamed in connection with the case, were summoned to testify before the grand jury. They include attaches of the Russell hotel, where Burch took rooms directly across from Kennedy's office, and the garage proprietor who declared he rented an auto to Burch the night of the murder.

A "vampire woman" who sought to force one of her victims to give a name to her unborn child—that is the picture the state will draw of Mrs. Obenchain in asking her indictment.

The state will contend that Kennedy, who was strong-willed, wanted Burch, attempted to extort from himself from the state. Obenchain had woven about him, was shot by Burch during an altercation when he refused to listen to Burch's pleadings that he marry Mrs. Obenchain.

Under Sheriff Manning thus described the presentation that will be made to the grand jury:

"Burch has been identified as the man who rented an auto. The mark of the tires on the roadside at the scene correspond with those of the machine he rented."

"We believe he was waiting at the Glen for Mrs. Obenchain and Kennedy to come. We do not believe murder was premeditated."

"We will present evidence to the grand jury to show that Burch, with a shotgun in his hands, approached Kennedy and insisted that he marry her at once—that night. In an effort to frighten Kennedy, we believe Burch fired."

"According to a neighbor, an interval of a minute and a half elapsed before the second shot. In this period it is our contention that an argument ensued and that Kennedy, despite the shotgun pointed at him, attempted to draw his revolver."

"It was at this point, it is claimed, that Kennedy, who was strong-willed, wanted Burch, attempted to extort from himself from the state. Obenchain had woven about him, was shot by Burch during an altercation when he refused to listen to Burch's pleadings that he marry Mrs. Obenchain.

MOB THREATS FORCE MINE BOSSES TO LEAVE

Sullivan, Ind.—Three mine bosses were driven from Sullivan county Thursday by threats of mob violence.

At a mass meeting of miners here last night, it was agreed that responsibility for unemployment in the coal fields near here rests entirely with the mine bosses.

It is understood threats were also made against other employers.

The prosecuting attorney said on investigation is being made of the affair. He said he had told Governor McCray all that he knew and the governor promised to cooperate fully sending state troops if there is necessity for them.

The board expects to consider the matter of transferring the old vets at a meeting held late this month at Dayton, Ohio.

Geraldine Doesn't Care What Is Said About Her

New York — Geraldine Farrar slammed the door in the face of the public Thursday.

There will be no reconciliation between the beautiful song bird and America's noted lover, Lou Tellegen, according to Farrar's attorneys.

It will be a final fight, but it will be in the public can—well, Geraldine doesn't care. She's going to deal with what her attorneys call her "arrogant husband" in her own way.

In a statement given out by Alvin Untermeyer, Farrar's lawyer, the latter declared that Miss Farrar has decided to maintain perfect silence.

"She will neither justify nor explain her motives or reasons for dealing with her arrogant husband as she did," the statement said. "She cares nothing for any opinion the newspapers or the persons who read them may have about her act of locking her husband out."

"They can think what they like and as they like."

"There is no chance for a reconciliation and there is no chance for an explanation."

"Let the mud slinging go on. No one can go to Miss Farrar and no one can see her."

"What she said before marriage and what she is quoted as saying afterward speaks for itself."

The reference to Miss Farrar's remarks to which her attorneys refer are these:

"Men are like cakes in a bag," she is quoted as having said. "After you have begun to eat the cake with the green icing you think perhaps you would like the one with pink icing better. You try that and a yearning for chocolate comes over you. You put that aside, for the cake in the bottom of the bag still allures."

"No, I shall never marry, because marriage means eating one cake all your life and keeping on eating it whether you like it or not. You know I should not like to have to keep on eating my cake after I had enough."

Mr. Lewis had his Boy Scout troop out for an outing when the tragedy occurred. He was an expert swimmer and it is believed that his failure to come to the surface again after making a dive was due to his striking his head against something that stunned him. When he failed to come up some of the boys who could swim began diving and finally pulled him up by the hair, and dragged him ashore.

Lewis was a world war veteran, having served as a volunteer in France. He was 31 years old and came from Waukegan, Wis.

COUNCIL MEETS TO ACT ON PETITION FOR NEW BRIDGE

CAN'T MAKE CITY PLAN UNTIL BRIDGE PROBLEM IS SOLVED

Special Meeting Is Called for Thursday Evening to Take Action.

As the result of an informal meeting of the city plan commission and city councilmen at the city hall Wednesday night in which City Planner Leonard C. Smith presented his findings on traffic conditions in Appleton, a special meeting of the city council will be held Thursday night for the purpose of discussing the advisability of filing a petition with the state highway commission asking that a bridge be built over the Fox river, within the city limits.

It is probable that definite action will be taken on the matter of filing a petition after all phases of the question have been considered. In his report at last night's meeting, Prof. Smith declared that he would welcome immediate action on the bridge question in order that he might not be hampered in working out a city plan. He pointed out that his hands are tied to a great extent as long as the location of the bridge is in doubt. The work of zoning the city must necessarily depend upon how the bulk of street traffic is cared for, he said, and the location of a bridge would be a determining factor.

Reports on recent traffic censuses taken on Lake-st., Appleton-st., Oneida-st., Second ave. East, River-st., and on the John-st., were presented to the meeting by Prof. Smith. He declared that due to abnormal traffic, the figures given could not be taken as a measure of true conditions so that it would be necessary to take at least two more counts later in the year.

He also displayed maps of different portions of the city showing how later on, zoning could be manipulated to benefit outlying districts and the city as a whole.

As provided by law, if the city council votes in favor of filing a petition with the state highway commission, representatives of the commission are required to hold a public hearing here within 60 days. At this hearing, citizens will be given a chance to express their opinions as to the necessity for a bridge and where it should be located.

WILL USE WIRELESS FOR FARM MESSAGES

Washington—For some time the postoffice department has been sending out bulletins by wireless telegraph, giving summaries of weather and crop conditions.

The bulletins were relayed to airplane mail stations in all parts of the country. There they were picked up by county agents and farm bureau officials and sent out to farmers by mail.

This service is said to have helped farmers a great deal, but it wasn't entirely satisfactory, because it took the bulletins a long time to get from the relay points to the farmer.

MARAUDERS GET $70 FROM GROCERY STORE

Unidentified persons did some heavy shopping at the George Emrich grocery, 315 Oneida-st., Wednesday night but forgot to pay their bills of $70 and left no record of whom to charge the items to. The police are working on the case believing some campers were real hungry and "dead broke."

Entrance to the store was gained during the night by prying open a rear window. Articles were picked with precision from the shelves, and included such things as sweet corn, a pound of butter, two loaves of bread, cookies, two cans of salmon and other food items. The only cash in the place was $1 in pennies, and this the "customers" took for change.

Final Game for City "Championship"—Former Resident Dies in North.

Menasha—Saturday afternoon at the hall park will be played the third and championship game of baseball between Menasha's two "famous" teams the "Fats" and the "Leans." Each team has won a game and after a rest of two weeks during which the players on both sides have been recovering from their bumps and bruises the two teams are to meet again to determine supremacy. The lineup of the "Leans" will be as formerly but captain "Andy" Borenz of the "Fats" refuses to divulge the names of the mysterious dark horse battery which they have engaged for the crucial game and says that this will be discovered only when time is called for the contest to begin. The teams are to play for a purse of $100.

No 'Glad Hand' For Tourists In State Metropolis

Appleton sets an example for Milwaukee in extending the "glad hand" to tourists in the opinion of J. G. Mohr, who returned recently from an automobile trip south.

Mr. Mohr had heard that several campsites were available in Milwaukee. He stopped a motorcycle officer on the outskirts and inquired as to their location. The officer hadn't heard of any and told him the only place he knew of was hotels. Two policemen in the downtown section told Mr. Mohr about the same story. The Appleton man then drove to a park where he understood tourists could camp. The keeper said he had never heard of the park being used for that purpose, but did know that an officer came through every few hours to drive the "bums" out of the place.

Mr. Mohr told the officers Milwaukee ought to wake up and take care of its visitors as even the smallest towns are doing. He believes Appleton's welcome is about the most cordial of any.

FREEDOM'S HALF CENTURY OLD SCHOOL FEUD IS ENDED

SCHOOL WILL BE MOVED AFTER 50 YEARS OF TROUBLE

North End Residents Finally Triumph in Effort to Relocate Building.

After 50 years' bitter controversy over the location of a schoolhouse, peace reigned supreme in joint district No. 6 town of Freedom.

Settlement of all differences between the two opposing factions of the district was effected Monday night at a special meeting in which popular vote decided that the schoolhouse should be moved to the center of the district. Up until now the schoolhouse has been located three miles from the north end of the district and half a mile from the south end. Residents of the north portion of the district have at last succeeded in their efforts to have the school building centrally located.

Sheriff P. G. Schwartz opened the meeting Monday night by a short talk in which he reminded the voters that the county jail is commodious and good board is to be had there. He threatened to corral the entire gathering if any disturbance should occur either during the meeting or after ward.

The sheriff's address injected a little humor into proceedings and the voters went into the business of the evening good naturedly. Three resolutions in regard to the schoolhouse were presented to the 55 voters present and all were passed by satisfactory majorities. The first provided that the schoolhouse should be moved to the center of the district; the second that a location should be purchased and the third asked an addition of $500 to the next annual school tax levy in order to pay for the new school site and for the expense of moving the building.

WANT TRUCKS AND CARS TO TAKE SCOUTS TO CAMP

Two companies which will leave the use of large trucks next Sunday are being sought by Appleton Boy Scout council to haul baggage of the scouts to Camp Onawa near Waupaca. The council plans to pay the drivers for their services, but wants to save the scouts a large sum for trucking and freight.

Organizations back of some troops already have enlisted the use of enough automobiles to take particular groups to camp Monday morning. Scoutmasters of other troops will be asked to obtain the same service thus making it unnecessary for any boy to pay railroad fare. Standard trucks and touring car arrangements will be needed for the return trip in two weeks.

Scouts have been notified by How and P. Buck, scout executive, to hand in their lists of preferable tent groupings by Friday. Campers then will be assigned with these requests in mind.

Grocery Clerk Rises To Prominence As Composer

Edwin Tillman Gets Handsome Contract for His Musical Selections.

From grocery clerk to composer almost overnight is the experience of Edwin Tillman, 632 Union st., who has closed a contract with Riviera Music company, Chicago, for a waltz selection entitled "Hawaiian Blues." The first edition is to be 200,000 copies, for which he is to receive a royalty of 3 cents a copy.

Mr. Tillman submitted a second song, "Love's Isle," which also met the instant approval of the publishers and now is being prepared for publication. The copyright is to be obtained by Mr. Tillman and the publication rights given to several sheet music concerns in the United States.

Royalties of 50 per cent on all phonograph records and player piano rolls with Mr. Tillman's selections also are included in the contract. He will be presented with a check each three months representing all sales within that period.

The Appleton young man has been pianist for Ariel orchestra, Neenah for some time and also has been a student of Lawrence Conservatory of Music. Melodies had suggested themselves to him while playing but he gave little thought to the idea of composing music until some of his associates mentioned the possibilities.

"Hawaiian Blues" was written from an inspiration. Mr. Tillman was riding a bicycle delivering an order of groceries. The melody came to him so definitely that he got off his bicycle at his sister's house, which he happened to be passing, tried it over on the piano and jotted down the notes so it would not be forgotten. Spare hours then were spent preparing an orchestration of the piece and it was introduced to dancers by Ariel orchestra. Many dancers stepped up to name of the selection was, indicating that it had hit a popular note.

Submitting it to publishers in Chicago Mr. Tillman heard nothing from the manuscript for several weeks. A letter then came asking him to go to Chicago to play his composition. He was ushered into a glass partitioned room, before 11 judges who listened while he played. The judges excused him for a few moments and he then was called back and the contract offered. He accepted and also was told to prepare his second number, "Love's Isle."

This sudden stride toward fame swept Mr. Tillman completely off his feet, he said, and even now he hardly has recovered from the surprise. Life little dreamed that his application to his musical studies would bring him such a substantial reward so early in his experience. He intends to continue writing words and music. The success of his productions is their complete departure from anything yet written, the judges in Chicago told him.

PROSPECT-ST. TO HAVE PUBLIC WELL

Home Owners Unite to Provide Neighborhood With Good Drinking Water.

Home owners living near Walnut and Prospect sts. will have a community well on the triangular plot known as Prospect park. About 15 persons signed an agreement to pay a proportionate share of the cost of digging and the common council then gave permission to proceed.

When city water tasted so strongly of algae the demand for good drinking water crystallized into the public well idea. The cost will be between four and five hundred dollars. Work will be started as soon as each signer has arranged to pay his share.

This idea has spread to other localities where there are few wells and no public schools nearby. City water is depended upon by most families, but the hot summer weather usually spoils the taste. Individuals who build their own wells usually find the people of the neighborhood helping themselves to water. The community well idea relieves any one person of the whole expense and makes it convenient for all.

WILL DRIVE CAR OVER HIGH CLIFF PRECIPICE

Flaming posters just distributed promise "a real picnic" to people who attend the event at High Cliff park next Sunday. The chief attraction and thrill of the day will be had when a large touring car will be driven over the cliff onto the rocks 500 feet below.

Concert by the Kaukauna band will occupy the afternoon and evening and there will be dancing in the pavilion. Moving pictures will be taken of the auto stunt and also of the crowds of people who attend.

MONDAY CONCERT WILL BE HELD AT WEST PARK

West park, fourth ward, will be the most popular place in Appleton Monday evening when the Artillery band gives its concert. Rehearsals are in progress for an attractive program which Director Percy Fullinwider will announce this week. This will be the first concert held in some time in West park and is expected to draw a record crowd.

THE TRIALS OF A HOUSEWIFE

How They Have Been Endured and How Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Experience of a Providence Woman

Providence, R. I.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a female trouble and backache. It began just after my baby was born, and I did the best I could about getting my work done, but I had awful bearing-down pains so I could not stand on my feet. I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the good it was doing other women, and I have got dandy results from it and will always recommend it. You can use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HENRIET L. CASSEN, 18 Men Court, Providence, R. I.

Ohio woman for three years could hardly keep about and do her housework she was so ill. Made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound: Fayette, O.—"For about three years I was very nervous and had backache, sideache, dragging-down pains, could not sleep at night, and had no appetite. At times I could hardly do my housework. I got medicine from the doctor but it did not help me. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and took it with good results, and am now able to do my housework. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. CHESTER A. BALL, R. 15, Fayette, Ohio.

An Illinois woman relates her experience: Bloomington, Ill.—"I was never very strong and female trouble kept me so weak I had no interest in my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or sweep a room without raging with pain. Rubbing my back with alcohol sometimes eased the pain for a few hours, but did not stop it. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and six bottles of it have made me as strong and healthy as any woman; and I give my thanks to it for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQUITT, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

The conditions described by Mrs. Cassen, Mrs. Ball, and Mrs. McQuitt will appeal to many women who struggle on with their daily tasks in just such conditions—in fact, it is said that the tragedy in the lives of some women is almost beyond belief. Day in and day out they slave in their homes for their families—and beside the daily routine of housework, often make clothes for themselves and for their children, or work in their gardens, all the while suffering from those awful bearing-down pains, backache, headaches, nervousness, the blues, and troubles which sap the very foundation of life until there comes a time when nature gives out and an operation seems inevitable. If such women would only profit by the experience of these three women, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the natural restorative for such conditions it may save them years of suffering and unhappiness.

There is hardly a neighborhood in any town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been restored to health by this famous medicine. Therefore ask your neighbor, and you will find in a great many cases that at some time or other she, too, has been benefited by taking it, and will recommend it to you. For more than forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring suffering women to health and strength.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

CARELESS TOURISTS

Because of the war, Germany lost about 21,547,520 acres of land exclusive of plebeians. This was undoubtedly a serious national misfortune to Germany. The United States, during the period of 1916-1920, inclusive, burned up 50,488,307 acres of our forested area—over two and a half times as much as Germany's entire loss—an area greater than New York and Pennsylvania combined, or of Minnesota, Kansas, Idaho, or Utah.

While it is impossible to trace the origin of all forest fires, the records show that a large number originate through the carelessness of happy-go-lucky tourists. The government is anxious to encourage the use of national forests as recreation grounds. It cooperates with plans for building fine roads through the forests, and establishes numerous free camping grounds, where shelter, water, and firewood may be obtained. Many of these camps are located on main automobile highways and are easily reached. Some states provide tourist guide maps to the forests and camp sites. About 5,000,000 people, it is estimated, use the forests each year during the vacation season.

Some of the campers, however, do not seem to appreciate the pleasures and privileges afforded to the touring public. They disfigure the scenery with rubbish and filth, they disregard game laws and pollute streams, but their worst and most frequently recurring offense, according to forest officers, is the starting of destructive forest fires by carelessness either with camp fires or with smoking. A lighted cigarette thrown into dry leaves or needles, may start a fire that will spread for miles. A camp fire not fully extinguished may be the means of destroying valuable timber which has taken hundreds of years to reach maturity. The reports of forest rangers are filled with dramatic accounts of the work involved in controlling such fires, and also in detecting and bringing the culprits before a judge after following the very slight clues obtainable in a deserted camp site. Sometimes an old bottle or a pocket handkerchief will reveal the original possessor who did not put out his fire. Sometimes a particular make of automobile tire can be traced for miles and the careless camper brought to justice.

No fines, however, on the part of the local magistrate, will restore the burned area. While forest rangers are vigilant and alert to catch carelessness and prevent incipient fires, the real need is for the development of more conscience on the part of the public which uses the forests.

HOW THE SOVIET SYSTEM IS ORGANIZED

The soviet system is supposed to be a pure democracy. It is supposed to be a form of government in which the people are supreme, and by which they rule directly through their own representatives. For the reason that it espouses the theory of common ownership of property it is believed to be popular in its organization and operation. Sovietism really is a chain of executive and legislative bureaus. It has put into force in Russia the most extreme type of bureaucratic autocracy. Seemingly to derive its authority and representation from the people, it realizes inequitable representation, as far as representation goes, and its control is not from the bottom up, but from the top down, and it is not republican, but despotic.

The soviet, which is a council, is the unit of the system. There are urban and rural soviets. The urban soviet is composed of delegates chosen by factory workers, trades union members, and soldiers. The people of the town are allowed a small number of delegates. The delegates in the rural soviet are elected by the peasants. All of these units send delegates to the gubernia, or district soviets. The gubernias send delegates to the central congress or soviet. The town soviets also send delegates to the central soviet. There are oblasts, or regional councils, also composed of town and village representatives, but they send no delegates to the central soviet.

Full power is vested in the central soviet, and the wheel within this congress is the executive committee. This committee appoints the heads of the eighteen commissions or commissariats which actually run the country. These commissariats, or heads of bureaus, are the potential masters of Russia. There are eighteen of them. The commissariats are national economy, education, commerce, food transportation, military, foreign affairs, naval, home, justice, labor, social welfare post and telegraph, finance, nationalities, public health, state control and agriculture. Comprising eighty-five per cent of the population, the farmers have but slight representation. The power of the system is in the cities. The farmers, who took possession of the large estates, are opposed to communism. Yet, the weakest factor in the system is what the socialists regard as the strongest, the centralized and autocratic bureaucracy.

The fall of sovietism and the soviet government is eminent. Communism has not only been a failure as a system, but more particularly and seriously has it been a failure in administration. Sovietism has been not only a despotism, but the cause of famine, plague and discontent.

IS THIS A SUBSIDY FOR GOLD MINING?

The measure known as the McFadden bill, pending in congress, and which has been endorsed by the American Mining congress, provides for a premium of ten dollars an ounce on all new gold mined in the three years subsequent to the enactment of the proposed law. Owners of gold mines explain that the financial consideration is necessary in order to save the industry from disaster, and they add that the ten dollars an ounce would be a compensatory payment to them from the gold manufacturers.

Gold is the base of the money supply of all the leading nations. Gold has value as bullion and value as a commodity in commerce. The principle which affects its use as bullion or as a commodity is the price which it can bring at the mint or at the manufacturing jewelers. If the mint price is higher than the commercial price, gold will flow to the mint; if the commercial price is higher than the mint price, gold will be absorbed in commerce.

The principle bearing on the production of gold is that gold will be mined if there is a profit in its sale, as indicated by the difference between the cost of mining and the price which it will command as bullion or as a commodity. The value of gold as money has, of course, a direct relationship on the value of gold as a mine product. When the value of gold as money decreases, which is indicated by high and increasing prices, the cost of production also rises. There is a state, therefore, at which it becomes unprofitable to mine gold.

The value of gold is increasing steadily as prices are tumbling. The purchasing power of gold is, therefore, much greater than it was a year ago, or even a month ago, and it is steadily becoming still greater. Furthermore, is it not probable that a premium on new gold would be paid by the United States, and not by the manufacturing jewelers? Jewelers would not buy the new gold at a premium of ten dollars an ounce, but would melt coin and use it for commercial purposes, and the government would have to buy the new gold with which to coin money. Or, if the new gold flowed into commercial channels, the mint would have to meet the commercial price in order to buy more bullion. Another point to be considered is that the premium would stimulate the production of gold to such an extent that the yellow metal would be mined in immense quantities. And it is a well-established and generally recognized principle of economics that a large increase in the gold stock causes a corresponding increase in prices.

The McFadden bill does not appear to be a measure which would benefit business or the public. Congress cannot afford to enact it into a law without giving the bankers and business interests an opportunity to weigh the consequences. Subsidies, whether direct or indirect, are inconsistent with popular ideals and business ethics.

ECONOMICAL SOTT.

There was considerable filling to be done in our office and a punch was used to insure evenness. There was quite a lot of "confetti" scattered about at times and one bird used to pick this up and take it home, from where he would cart it to the Mardi Gras carnival and enjoy himself. "Confetti" at the carnival retailed at about 1 cent a bagful then.—Exchange.

THE APARTMENT OF THE TUBERCULOUS.

Query: We are moving into a house just vacated by a family in which was a case of tuberculosis. The house consists of three rooms, and we burned five pounds of sulphur in the house with all doors and windows closed, and allowed the house to remain closed twelve hours, by which time the fumes had almost disappeared. We then washed all floors, baseboards and other woodwork with hot water and soap. We moved in the next day.

Are we in any danger of infection? Is there anything else we can do to diminish the danger? The wall paper was loose in a few places, but we think the sulphur fumes could work in behind it. (E. A. S.)

Query: What precautions are necessary in the case of a consumptive living in a home where there are children? The patient has her own room. Is there danger from using dishes and silver used by the patient after having had hot water? (M. T. L.)

Not by occasional, accidental or casual personal contact with a person who has active tuberculosis, but by prolonged, habitual, intimate contact with him, can one contract the disease. There is no danger involved in paying a friendly visit to a tuberculous individual who is well cared for (as in a tuberculosis sanatorium or a hospital) or who is intelligent and conscientious (a cleanly patient at home). An intelligent and conscientious invalid, be his illness tuberculosis of the lungs, diphtheria, simple sore throat, or cornea (popularly known as "cold"), is only a danger to himself and to those who are in direct contact with him. The risk involved in a kiss; who never fails to cover nose and mouth with mask, handkerchief, or, if necessary in an emergency, with the hand, when coughing or sneezing; and who comprehends that the usual mode of conveyance of any and all of these respiratory infections is by spray which carries up four feet on a level from the patient's face when he talks or laughs (up to ten feet in coughing or sneezing); and who sees to it, therefore, that the caller is seated outside of the five-foot barrage and never enters within the barrage. This is the reasonable and perfectly feasible, and reliable rule for safe intercourse with one afflicted with a communicable respiratory disease.

The rite practiced by one of our querists, burning pounds of sulphur, added nothing to the safety of the real disinfection employed, soap and water washing. If wall paper or paint needs renovation it should be renovated. It would have been better disinfection, if not quite so spectacular, to have opened wide all the doors and windows and permitted sunlight and fresh air to do their work, even for twelve hours. If there is any risk associated with the occupancy of apartments recently vacated by one with tuberculosis, the risk is involved in contact with the late occupant, not in living in the rooms he has occupied. True, in some communities a great hullabaloo is made over the "fumigation" of such apartments, as by law in New York state, but that law, like many other so-called health laws of New York state, is an absurdity and in practice a farce.

Proper soap and water washing of woodwork, ordinary housecleaning and when soiled paper or woodwork require it, ordinary re-papering or re-painting, will make such apartments quite as safe to occupy as any noisome odors or impure apparatus of the health board agent can make them.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Tonsils.

Three years ago my doctor claimed I had leakage of the heart and I spent two weeks in the hospital. Now my doctor says I must have my tonsils removed. Is it dangerous? (Mrs. L. S.)

Answer—It is more dangerous for one with heart disease to keep diseased tonsils than it is to have them removed, and no doubt that is why your doctor advises their removal now.

Cross-Eyes.

Please tell me whether my fourteen year old son's cross eyes can be straightened without an operation. He wears glasses. Also if taking his tonsils out will help his heart—one tonsil is affected. (B. P. B.)

Answer—Sometimes suitable prisms and lenses for correcting ordinary visual defects will straighten cross-eyes, but only your son's oculist can determine whether surgical aid is also required in his case. Since most cases of heart disease such as endocarditis or valvular deformity result from focal infection from diseased tonsils, it is wise to have such infected tonsils removed at the earliest possible moment, in order to protect the heart from further damage therefrom. Of course the removal of tonsils cannot in itself better the condition of the heart.

CHILDREN HOLD FUTURE OF MUSIC.

The future of music as an instrument of culture lies with the children of the people. Nowhere but in the elementary schools can they be reached. Colleges of music are necessary to train the professional, but the education committees of the great towns have the largely neglected opportunity of making the rising generation a music-loving public. The innate faculty of appreciation is there, and is commonly diffused among scholars of the most essential industrial areas. It only needs direction and cultivation, for one of the greatest pleasures to be added to the amenities of town life, pleasures at present so lamentably few. The main idea is to teach the children how to appreciate and enjoy good music, how to become, intelligent listeners rather than to become performers themselves.—Exchange.

Opposes Maternity Bill

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington.—Miss Alice Robertson, who has had the spotlight of public opinion turned in her direction almost continuously since her election as an Oklahoma representative to congress, is becoming the center of all eyes because of the stand she has taken opposing the passage of the Maternity bill for which women's suffrage organizations all over the country have been fighting vigorously.

This bill provides that two million dollars be appropriated by the federal government for the first year, and a like sum be provided by the states, the exact amount appropriated according to population, to pay public health nurses to instruct mothers in hygiene and the care of infants, to establish consultation centers, and to cover the expenses of medical and nursing care for mothers and children, at home or in hospitals. The exact use of the proposed fund would rest largely with federal and state officials.

Says Bill is too Indefinite

Miss Robertson's specific objection to the Sheppard-Towner Bill is that nothing definite is promised in it. There is much talk of sums of money to be set aside "for the public protection of maternity and infancy and providing a method of cooperation between the government of the United States and the several states," but no distinct statement as to when and where such appropriations shall be actually used. All practical development of such "protection" is left rather vaguely to the Children's Bureau of the labor department and the child hygiene division of the state boards of health.

"If the bill is passed," said Miss Robertson, "the state of affairs with small organizations now handling such work will be as it was with the women's knitting societies when the war stopped. All the good work that is now being done through many channels will be stopped. Conditions will be worse than before the bill was passed because nothing will be actually started by the passage of this measure and everybody will be contented, believing that everything will now be cared for."

Another reason Miss Robertson objects so strenuously to the Sheppard-Towner bill is because she feels it to be exceedingly paternalistic in its intent. In this connection, she says to the woman voter: "If, in your judgment, this legislation is unnecessary for the reason that the family, the community, the municipality and the state, understanding local conditions, can care for their own without national mandate, write your congressman and say so." As she does not believe in forcing people to go to church, as proposed in the much-discussed Blue Laws, so too, the lady from Oklahoma does not believe in federal supervision of maternal problems.

In a statement warning the women all over the country to read and consider well the latent as well as more obvious possibilities suggested by this bill, Miss Robertson says:

"Remember, the political women who are supporting this bill, wishing the first test of their power in legislation to be a master stroke, have used the most touching and irresistible appeal that could be placed before a body of American men. Mothers of America, is this an insidious attempt to secure most dangerous class legislation—the legislation of sex?"

"I suppose this bill, basing my action upon the belief that my sister women have not been fairly dealt with, that even to the great hearted, sympathetic president, it has been claimed that the mothers want it and ask for it, when the vast majority know nothing of it."

Miss Robertson, descendant of ten generations of preachers of the gospel, who has herself cared for Indian orphans and children of illegitimate parentage to make of them good, clean citizens, does not speak so forcibly on this bill which has passed the senate and is pending action in the house, without having first thoroughly investigated the matter.

"I have consulted many of my colleagues," said Miss Robertson in her drawing, easy speech, "and I have found only one who said he had actually read the bill through. He said he was going to vote for it because he had no intention of being crucified back home. I am now sending inquiries to women all over the country to see if they have read the bill and know what it means." Miss Robertson suggested that it might seem to a layman as though the bill was framed to evade the understanding of lawyers, and the lawyers on the committee which had the bill especially under discussion were ashamed to admit they didn't understand it.

The Lady from Oklahoma has personally given more time, study and thought to this bill than to any other legislation now pending. She says that she is most decidedly in favor of legislation to protect maternity and infancy but such legislation should be framed in the most definite and simple language possible.

To the casual observer, Miss Robertson would not appear to be a stateswoman, if seen on the street, but rather as the "practical, home body" that she likes to acknowledge herself to be. Larger, rather slow and ponderous, and dressed in simple, comfortable clothes, Miss Robertson might be suspected of planning a thousand and one little household arrangements instead of planning to tell the women all over the United States why she does not favor the passage of the much-talked-about Sheppard-Towner bill. In her office, however, she is not so true to feminine type. She really dislikes having her secretary "straighten up" her desk and has no more desire than any masculine congressional representative to solve problems for the constituents of districts other than her own.

Yet, just because she is a woman, many are the requests that come to her desk that should be referred to other congressmen.

On the other hand, she is quite feminine enough to be thoroughly delighted with a bouquet of gorgeous American Beauties which the ambassador of Peru sent her in recognition of her part in selecting the mission sent by the United States to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of Peru's birth as a republic. Such is the complexity of woman.

Q. Is the Mississippi River adding soil to the mainland? O. A. B.

A. The process of soil building goes on steadily below New Orleans, the river adding one foot to the mainland each day.

Q. What makes soft drinks effervescent? A. B.

A. The property of effervescence is due to impregnation under pressure of the mixture of water, syrup and flavor with carbon dioxide gas. The raw materials used in the manufacture of this gas are present in the bottled drink. Only the gas is used, and is a wholesome product, identical with the carbon dioxide found in many mineral springs.

Q. Just what is included in the phrase "big game"? S. A. O.

A. The term "big game" is elastic, but is generally understood to include all wild animals larger than the common fox.

Q. How does the density of population in China compare with that of the United States? R. E. D.

A. If the population of the United States and 40,000,000 more were crowded into the State of Texas, the density of the population would be about the same as that of China in the valley of the Yang-tse-Kiang and the plains between the Yang-tse-Kiang and the Hoangho rivers. This means an average of 520 persons to the square mile.

Q. Were submarines used during the Civil War? E. C.

A. During the period of the Civil War, the Union had no submarines. The Confederates had several, called "Davids." One of the "David" submarines attempted to blow up the "New Ironclad," but failed. The Confederates' submarine which accomplished considerable destruction was the "H. L. Hunley," built by Capt. Hunley. This submarine destroyed the "Housatonic."

Q. Has the strike of engineers, firemen, and seamen of the Merchant Marine been settled? F. E. L.

A. The department of Labor states that the strike of the engineers and firemen of the Merchant Marine was settled about a month ago. The terms of the agreement were the 15 per cent reduction and the changes in working rules. This agreement runs until December 31. On August 1, the masters, mates, and pilots accepted similar rates.

Q. Was the Colossus of Rhodes as tall as the Statue of Liberty? H. F.

A. Pliny and Strabo place the height of the Colossus of Rhodes at 70 cubits, or 105 feet. Later writers estimate it at nearly 80 cubits. The Statue of Liberty is 151 feet high, placed on a pedestal 175 feet.

Q. How did the term "French leave" originate? T. A.

A. This phrase came into use from the French custom in the eighteenth century of departing from a social gathering without taking leave of the host or hostess.

Q. Can peaches be put up by the "sun preserving" method? J. I. T.

A. Peaches, apricots, and plums are well adapted for sun preserving. Fruit should be carefully picked over and wiped, cut in half and pits removed. Spread on racks or boards and dry in sun for two days, turning in at night. Pack in jars, a layer of fruit then a layer of sugar, using a pound for pounds and leaving the top layer of sugar. The mixture should be covered but not be sealed.

Q. What time is applied to a coin collector and what to a stamp collector? A. D. 1.

A. A coin or medal collector is called a numismatist, and a stamp collector, a philatelist.

Q. What is the Babcock test? M. G. M.

A. This is the name given to the milk fat test invented by Dr. S. M. Babcock in 1890. The fat in milk commonly varies between three and six per cent. The fat is lighter in weight than other milk substances, and rises to the top of the milk. Cream is made up of fat and milk serum.

Q. At what temperature does yeast work best? J. S. B.

A. Yeast is made up of tiny plants which grow and multiply in bread dough and form a gas which causes the dough to become light. It grows best in a temperature of about 84 F.

Q. What is the nickname for the Ace of Clubs? T. W.

A. It is often called the "Puppy-dog."

Actual registration from Appleton totaled 61 Wednesday morning. Troops with the liveliest scoutmasters and troop leaders were the ones which made a showing in the competition. "I was greatly pleased that we reached our quota of 60 boys this time, with scout activities virtually at a standstill here," said Howard P. Buck, scout executive. "I expect the interest in this camp to be so keen that we will have at least 175 boys next year. We will start our 1922 plans as soon as we return."

BOY SETS WORLD RECORD FILLING BOTTLES OF POP

Raymond Hamm, 13, son of Wenzel Hamm manufacturer of carbonated beverages, broke a world's record Wednesday filling and capping 45 cases of 24 bottles each in one hour. The best former record was 35 cases. The manufacturers of the automatic machine have called upon him for his photograph for advertising purposes. Master Hamm was the first boy to make a record and had used the machine only three months.

NEENAH FARMER PLEASED WITH HIS CROP OF WHEAT

Wilbur McDonald, a farmer of the town of Neenah, was in Appleton Wednesday with a load of winter wheat which he had just threshed. He said his crop went 30 bushels per acre and he had no trouble of disposing of it at the highest market price. He agreed to deliver another load Thursday. While his wheat crop was good he said his oats and rye were a failure. Threshing prices in Winnebago county this year are 8 cents for wheat and rye and 5 cents for oats. Mr. McDonald said most of the machines carry a crew of four men.

Happy Folks

With Jack Frost out of the way you'd be surprised how happy every one was. Ben Bunny, because Farmer Smith's sassa patch garden was growing so finely. Scramble Squirrel and Samantha, his wife, because the buds on the trees were growing sweet and juicy and green and there promised to be a fine crop of acorns and nuts.

Mrs. Redbreast and Robin her husband, because now Eddie Earthworm and his relatives could dig their way up through the soft ground and out into daylight where they could wriggle around delightedly in the dewy grass.

Of course, Mr. and Mrs. Robin may have wanted Eddie and his friends to be happy, but when they strutted around calling "Cheer up, Cheer up!" I don't think they were calling to Eddie but about Eddie. They were thinking of their own tummies and how nice Eddie would help to fill 'em, poor things!

I mean, not poor tummies, but poor Eddie and his friends!

And Fred Frog was glad, so he could come up out of his mud deep down under the creek, and Marty Mink and Mark Muskrat were glad because Fred could come. They were glad for the same reason that Robin was glad about Eddie Earthworm.

And Chirk Chipmunk was glad because he could frisk out of his pile of stones, and Wasp Weasel living near the same pile of stones, was glad that Chirk could come out. He'd been watching his chance to get Chirk for some time.

Cobby Coon was glad, because now that the ice was gone, he could get at Mr. Chub Fish and Mr. Shiner and Miss Minnow so much more easily.

Minch Mouse was glad that he could come out and Oscar Owl was glad that Minch could come. Everybody was glad about some thing.

What Is Every Mother's Hope For Her Children?

Sturdy, energetic children radiating health, are a source of pride and joy to their parents. And their development depends largely on their food.

Children, undernourished and unwisely fed are weak and unhealthy, and many times anemic. Disease easily grasps them, for their undeveloped constitutions are unable to resist the disease germs.

No food will have greater influence in making your children vigorous and healthy than Grape-Nuts. Served with milk or cream, Grape-Nuts is an ideal body, brain and nerve food. It is made from wheat and barley. Grape-Nuts offers a high food value, and it is as delicious as it is healthful.

Children find delight in the crisp, sweet richness of Grape-Nuts.

A dish at breakfast or lunch for a few days and you'll agree "There's a Reason" for Grape-Nuts. Nutrition and economy combined.

Chrys Is Missing

"Take me home," I moaned. My husband seemed to feel that I had appealed to him. He put an arm around me. "Secretly," I discovered a little remnant of delight left in my soul. He claimed the right to comfort me—before Katherine Miller!

It seemed a terrible pity that Bob should have so wrecked our very excellent variety of romance. I pitied him. I pitied myself. I realized that I had no home.

"Take me to mother!" I pushed Bob aside, hid my face on Daddy Lori mer's shoulder.

"We walked slowly back to the door in the wall under the fountain. We moved in silence. I would have preferred to hear my husband in conversation with his father."

Daddy had told Bob that he was the one to do the explaining. But Bob was silent. I knew him so well, knew well how obstinate he could be, how sullen, how perverse when he thought he was merely proud when he sulked.

We had discussed it more than once. I believed his moodiness to be the essence of selfishness.

Surely if he cared about me if he could explain his presence with Katherine in the cellars, he would be pouring words into Daddy's ears, and pleading into mine. So I reasoned as Jordan Spence led me back to the door in the outer wall.

"Don't forget what we came for."

Spence! Better bring along that coffin to the car," said Daddy.

We stopped, Spence pushed the lever in the wall which moved the tiles and revealed the pavement. I heard Katherine scream as the babe's casket was disclosed. Bob did not say a word. He was oblivious to all of us.

He was absorbed in his own melancholy, and I flattered myself that he didn't want to lose me, and he wouldn't take pains to conceal the fact from Katherine.

Well, he was going to have a long life to regret me in vain.

"Take off your coat and wrap the box in it," directed Daddy. "Bob, you're coming straight home with me. We'll drop Miss Miller at her own door. Don't say a word now—" as Bob started to speak—"Come on!"

"Let me explain, Mr. Lorimer," said Katherine.

Daddy held up a protesting palm. "Let the boy talk." He was brutally abrupt.

"Where is Chrystobel?" asked Jordan Spence suddenly.

"Where—is—Chrys?" I echoed in an appalled whisper.

"Was she with you?" asked Bob. "She was not when we met you."

"She did not come into the wine vaults at all," added Katherine. "It's so easy to get in. I babbled aimlessly. And almost impossible to get out!"

Menaced By Fire

Menaced by raging forest fires near Long Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoffmann were forced to abandon their cottage and return to their home in Appleton a month sooner than they had expected. They declare that prolonged dry weather has made the forests as inflammable as tinder and much damage is being done by the fires.

Thomas Davis has returned from a visit in Chicago where he attended the Pageant of Progress.

Two Ways With Ham

TWO WAYS WITH HAM

The next time you decide to have ham sandwiches or cold boiled ham for luncheon try a cottage ham.

These little hams aren't really ham at all, but are pieces of pork free from bone that have been cured in exactly the same way ham is. A cottage ham usually weighs from a pound to three pounds and sells at a reasonable price and contains no waste.

The meat is delicious boiled or out in very thin slices and broiled.

To Boil Cottage Ham

Two pounds ham, 1 teaspoon sugar, water.

Let ham stand in cold water for an hour or a half. Put in kettle and cover with cold water. Add sugar and bring to the boiling point. Simmer about an hour until tender. Let cool in the water in which the ham was cooked. This makes the meat rather juicy. Ham boiled in this way may be served sliced cold with potato salad, sliced thin for sand which filling, chopped fine and mixed with mayonnaise for sandwich filling, or used in any way ordinary cold boiled ham is used.

To Broil Cottage Ham

Since the meat very thin across the ham the slices should not be more than 1/4 inch thick. Broil over a hot bed of coals or under the flame. Cook first on one side and then on the other until the edges of fat are brown. Or the ham can be pan broiled. Put just enough bacon or ham fat in a spider to oil it evenly. When sizzling hot put in the meat and cook first on one side and then the other until the fat is browned. Ham cooked this way may be served with creamed potatoes, on points of toast with sliced tomatoes and mayonnaise, on lettuce with a slice of pine apple, in a sandwich with thin slices of cold roast veal, lettuce and mayonnaise, chopped and used in omelets or timbales.

WESTERN LUMBER DEALERS WORK FOR TIDEWATER CANAL

Would Ship Lumber From West Coast to Fox River Valley by Water.

Madison, Wis.—"Can you imagine not only Green Bay, but Appleton, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac getting their western lumber direct from the Pacific coast all the way by water? Well that is what the people in those places will see as soon as the St. Lawrence Deep Waterway is completed," declared F. D. Ream, of Seattle, who is visiting in Madison after a motor trip to Sturgeon Bay.

Mr. Ream, who is interested in the lumber trade on the Pacific coast, declared the opening of the proposed deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic will be a God send to the lumber industry and therefore to the Pacific northwest as it will permit the shipment of lumber by water down the coast, through the Panama canal, up the Atlantic coast and through the St. Lawrence to all points on the Great Lakes.

"I was very much interested in my trip through the Fox river valley," he declared Thursday. "To learn there is a good channel up the Fox from Green Bay to Lake Winnebago. That will mean that our western lumber will be shipped to Green Bay and there transferred to scows and towed down the river to Appleton, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac just as the pulp wood had been towed on scows for years. It will mean that all of those cities will be compelled to build larger docks to handle the freight which will come in by water, not only from the Pacific coast but from Europe, etc.

"And then just think what the deep channel through the St. Lawrence will mean to Chicago, to Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Sheboygan and other ports. It is actually going to make seaports out of all of those cities and I was surprised to learn that none of them are preparing to handle this business. Now is the time for such work during the period of trade depression when there is plenty of labor to be had. Why in Toronto last week I saw thousands of men at work building great docks, wharfs, warehouses, etc., in preparation for the new trade that is coming, and there is no such thing as business depression in Toronto. Everybody who will work has a job there everyone is happy and business is good.

"Freight rates have almost killed the lumber business in the Pacific Northwest, but it is already picking up in anticipation of the business that is coming when we can reach our markets by water at greatly reduced cost."

ANOTHER PITCHER TO FACE KIMBERLY

Kaukauna Again Changes Team—Getting Ready for Start of Grid Season.

Kaukauna. — Krueger, Kaukauna second baseman, has been released from the team and a general change in the line up will be made for the game Sunday afternoon with Kimberly. Schmidt will again take his position in right field and a new pitcher who has been playing with teams around Milwaukee will take the mound. The man, Grossel by name, has been recommended as a young pitcher who is making good. He wishes a tryout in this league and he will get it when he faces the Kimberly hitters.

Thompson is to play second base and Bixby will be shifted to the center garden. The hard luck, struck seems to be passing from the team and the men are looking forward to an exciting game Sunday with more than the ordinary hope that they will win.

Kimberly is preparing for a gala day. The baseball game is to be one event of a big picnic to be held on the grounds. Music will be furnished by the Cecilian band and there will be stunts and games before and after the game.

An interesting tussle is scheduled to take place on the home diamond Sunday afternoon when the Independents stack up against the Combined Locks team. Greatly strengthened with its new battery, the Independent squad is oozing confidence. A large crowd is expected to witness the battle.

Ready for Football
A meeting of young men in this city interested in football will be held next Wednesday evening in the Fox club rooms. The Kaukauna post of the American legion will manage the team as it did last season. Nights suitable to the men who wish to try out for the team must be picked for practice. The management of the team is determined that no grass will grow under its feet and practice will begin the latter part of this month. Kaukauna had one of the best teams in this section of the state last season in spite of the fact that the idea of a team was brought up so late in the season that real preparation was impossible.

Now with a month or more practice, Kaukauna ought to produce an aggregation that can't be beat. The eleven last year gave the Green Bay Packers their hardest tussle of the season; this year it will do its utmost to beat that famous squad.

Many of last year's stars are back on the job and will be out on the grounds with a lot of promising material.

Manager Ed Rennie is already booking games as it is his intention of filling the season's schedule as soon as possible. Anyone looking for games should write or call him.

FORCEFUL SPEAKER AT BIG CAUTAQUA

Says This Is Greatest Hour. More Men Return to Work at Car Shops.

Kaukauna. — "America's Greatest hour is now" was the statement of Dr. William Forkell in his lecture Wednesday evening before nearly 500 persons on the third night of the Chautauqua. Dr. Forkell is a brilliant speaker and although he spoke for nearly two hours, there was hardly a sign of restlessness in the big tent.

The World war has changed practically every country on the globe, Mr. Forkell said. America is being looked upon as the savior of the world. He said that all through history every great country rose to its hour of greatest prominence in the world at the end of 300 years. Those countries which took on an attitude of service and cooperation with the rest of the world, lived while others which tried to gain by the "might makes right" policy were lost.

The speaker said America is just 39 years from the 300 year period and it is reaching its pinnacle of power and greatness.

"The United States is God's last hope of civilization" said Dr. Forkell. "If America fails, the world fails; if America wins, the world also will win. If America fails the whole job of civilization will have to be done over again."

The speaker mentioned that the war had done away with kings and autocrats and showed that "right makes might" is the true policy. He said the former great rulers of Germany and Austria were sponging on their mother-in-law or standing up to the woodpile.

"Before the war there was only one famous woodpile" said the lecturer. "Now there are two. One in Holland, where former Bill spends his leisure, the other in America where that greatest of all Americans, Abraham Lincoln worked for a lowly living."

Comparing generations to the waves of the sea, he explained how each new generation came up from the unknown, deposited a few sands on the shores of Time and then retreated into the unknown again to make way for the next wave.

The Hampshire ladies staging orchestra preceded the speaker with a pleasing concert. Their presentation of an overture in which they represented the different sounds of the farm was the popular number.

The feature number of the Chautauqua is Solis' Marimba Band which appeared in concert Thursday afternoon and will appear again Thursday evening. The organization has been voted the most sensational on the Chautauqua platform and its members will entertain with classical and popular music. There will be no lecture.

After Tuesday nearly half the shop force will be back at work. Altogether 124 men will return to resume their jobs and 249 workers were laid off when the order came. Mr. Slater has no idea whether other men will be taken on later. He said that he must await orders from the head office.

MORE CLASSROOMS IN HIGH SCHOOL AS SCHOOL YEAR NEARS

New Locker System Is Being Installed in Gymnasium for Girls.

Work of repairing and renovating Appleton high school in preparation for the opening of the school year, is nearing completion. Several large class rooms have been divided to form two rooms. A partition running east and west has been placed in the former expression room in the east end of the first floor, making two history class rooms.

A similar change has been made in the gymnasium room at the west end of the second floor. These changes will make it possible for two more classes each period and will help take care of the large number of students who will enter the institution this fall.

Miss Carrie Morgan, city superintendent of schools has moved her office to the city hall to make it possible for Prof. J. C. Rasey, principal of the high school to have a more commodious office. The room formerly occupied by Miss Morgan will be used by Mr. Rasey's secretary and by the high school stenographer. The former high school office will be used as a private office for Prof. Rasey.

The history class room, known as "Mr. Wells' room," is being fitted up with shelves for the high school library, which is to be taken care of by Miss Ruth Mielke of Shawano. Books from the library in the back of the assembly room and from the various class rooms are to be moved to the new location.

New Locker System

A new system of steel gym lockers has been installed in the basement. Each girl has a locker and a number. When she wishes her gymnasium suit, she presents her number at the window of the check room and receives her bundle.

The entire building is being renovated and cleaned. While the corridors and rooms are unusually quiet, still the building is not entirely deserted for the old man of the physiology class room, the human skeleton, still stands erect on his pedestal, clothed in somber black with his tall silk hat on his cap-board cranium, guarding the hidden treasures of the class room from the wild speculations of the taxidermists art.

The first ward school building is also being redecorated and renovated. A new cloak room has been added on the lower floor for the use of the lower grades, and also a new one on the second floor for the eighth grade.

The lot just east of the building is being prepared for a play ball and basketball courts. A tennis court is to be built on the school lot across the street from the north side of the building. This playground is to be leveled off late in the fall for a skating rink.

FOX RIVER CO. TO MAKE REPAIRS IN NO. 2 MILL

C. R. Meyer & Sons Co. has been awarded the contract for making several improvements to the No. 2 mill of the Fox River Paper Co. on which work will be commenced within the next few days. The changes will include new concrete floors in the heater and machine rooms and a rearrangement of the shafting. The contractors are at present remodeling the boiler house of the Telulah mill and replacing the roof.

PATTEN MILL DOWN WHILE REPAIRS ARE BEING MADE

The Patten Paper Co. which has been operating its plant all summer is taking advantage of low water for making needed repairs. The plant has been shut down for two weeks while its tall race is being cleaned out and while its flume is being overhauled. The work is being done by employees of the mill. A crew of painters is also brightening up the interior woodwork. The company expects to resume operations next Monday. As the flow of water has been cut 85 per cent steam is used as an auxiliary power.

Towels Favorite Loot For Souvenir Hunters At Hotels

The souvenir collector who has successfully gone through the primeval and elementary stages of post cards, stamps, bugs and silver spoons collecting, has become practical during these times of high prices and is collecting towels, according to clerks and managers of hotels here.

Most of the hotels have their towels marked with the name of the institution and this seems to add to the attractiveness of the article in the eyes of the souvenir hound. It is more noticeable in the summer than in the winter according to Frank Guertz, clerk at the Sherman house, who said that tourists and other guests who go out to the beaches from the hotel take a supply of towels with them. Very little silverware is taken, although this used to be a favorite custom. Travelers used to boast of the number of spoons they had taken from hotels all over the country.

Napkins as well as towels are occasionally picked up at the Hotel Appleton. It was learned from Miss Lillian Smith, desk secretary. Bath towels which have become rather expensive in the last few years are favorites with collectors of souvenirs. Traveling men are not among this class as a rule. They are so accustomed to being in hotels that there would be no novelty in the practice. Then, too, most drummers make their towns regularly and there wouldn't be quite so good an opportunity for them to get away with the trick as there would be for the tourist who doesn't expect to return.

John Brill, proprietor of the Northwestern house, says that he has had very little trouble of that kind.

There is practically nothing that can be done to prevent the picking up of towels. They are missed after the people have gone and they are difficult to trace.

"We have no trouble with our towels disappearing," said T. J. Vermeulen, proprietor of the Vermuelen Tea Shop. "We have sanitary individual towel service, with the towels chained down." A little silverware is missed now and then at the tea shop, but there is very little lost to souvenir collectors.

While the menu cards are placed underneath the glass tops of the tables in Vermuelen's Tea Shop, they seem to have an irresistible charm for many people who will manage to get them out from underneath the glass. This is a daily occurrence. Some people even ask for them.

According to Mr. Vermeulen the women are the worst offenders.

"I think that people have gotten over the idea of collecting souvenirs to a great extent," said Mrs. A. L. Gmeiner. "People used to think they had to have something every time they went to a hotel." One of the most peculiar souvenirs ever taken from the shop was a glass arrangement for holding a box of matches and the discarded matches for the convenience of smokers. Two of these were taken within a short time.

K. Gulakis, proprietor of the Palace of Sweets, said that he never leaves anything around for souvenir hunters. The menu cards are removed as soon as the order is taken and there is very little trouble of that kind.

Poor priming ruins a rifle

Two targets, both by the same rifleman. One with a clean, smooth barrel, the other with a barrel which had been "pitted" by the priming in the cartridges.

The priming in most cartridges leaves a rust-attracting residue. This rust digs tiny holes all along the bore and gives the bullet a bumpy path from breech to muzzle.

The slightest inaccuracy in the rifle is multiplied many times on the target.

The priming in U S Rim-Fire Cartridges (including the famous .22 N. R. A. Long Rifle) does not attract rust. It does away with excessive "pitting." It helps your rifle to remain accurate.

For the sake of your rifle, use U S Rim-Fires. Money back if not satisfied.

GETS A JOB AND WILL GO TO ONAWAY CAMP

Sorrow left a youthful heart and a smile pierced teary eyes Wednesday morning when the boy scout who had yearned for work to earn enough to take him to camp was rewarded with a job. Mrs. E. L. McGregor, whose husband owns a market farm, telephoned headquarters that a job was waiting any time the boy might appear. Given the glad news, he left the scout office immediately to begin his work, happy in the knowledge that he would not be left behind Monday morning when 59 companions leave for Onaway island. He will be permitted to earn on his return any funds he may lack.

WEST ROAD TO NEENAH IN EXCELLENT SHAPE

Travelers who use the west road from Appleton to Neenah are complimenting the patrolmen of the town of Menasha on their work. The stretch from the county line south to Wirth cheese factory, and west to the Greenville-Grand Chute line has been graded and graded so it is as smooth as a pavement.

Other portions of the road to Neenah also are being kept in excellent shape. Farmers living in that locality find it more convenient to run their trucks with produce to Neenah than attempt Brickyard-rd. It is said that all trade from the southwest part of the county will go to Neenah when

CONTRACTORS TOLD TO PRESERVE GOOD LOOKS OF HIGHWAYS

Division Highway Engineer
Tells Road Builders to Be More Careful.

All county highway commissioners, engineers and contractors of Division No. 3 which includes Outagamie and six adjacent counties, have received a letter from O. C. Rollman of Green Bay, division engineer, to the effect that graders are defacing some of the culvert end walls on practically every job while doing shoring work.

"Every effort is made during construction to obtain smooth, well finished walls," said Mr. Rollman, "and we do not propose to have corners broken out and the walls otherwise damaged by grading and trucking. It should be possible to provide some form of protection by placing a plank or post against this end of the wall. At any rate, if this mutilation of walls is continued, it will be necessary to have the end walls knocked off and replaced before final acceptance.

"During the recent hot weather numerous instances of checking have occurred. When a job shows a tendency to check, it is up to the contractor to at once use every preventive measure possible and not consider checking as an act of providence over which he has no control and therefore make no effort to stop it.

Take Care of Concrete
"Preventive measures consist of thorough wetting of subgrade, sprinkling fresh concrete with a nozzle throwing a fine mist, covering fresh concrete with canvas, placing the earth covering and wetting down as soon as possible, re-rolling and re-betting where the concrete is still soft and the use of any other means which may be possible because of local conditions.

"Another point on which some contractors have been lax is in sprinkling concrete previously laid. A contractor's first responsibility is to take care of the pavement laid and if he cannot provide sufficient water to run the mixer and sprinkle properly, the mixer must stop rather than have the concrete already in place, neglected."

A FREE BOOKLET ON THE USE OF RICE

Rice may be made into appetizing dishes for any meal.

It is a good breakfast food, and an excellent basis for soups, substantial dishes, salads and desserts.

The texture and mild flavor of rice make it a valuable element in any diet, or combining with other food materials of pronounced flavor such as meat, eggs, cheese and some fruits and vegetables.

It is comparatively cheap so that using it to supplement and extend the flavor of more expensive foods will prove an economic practice in any household.

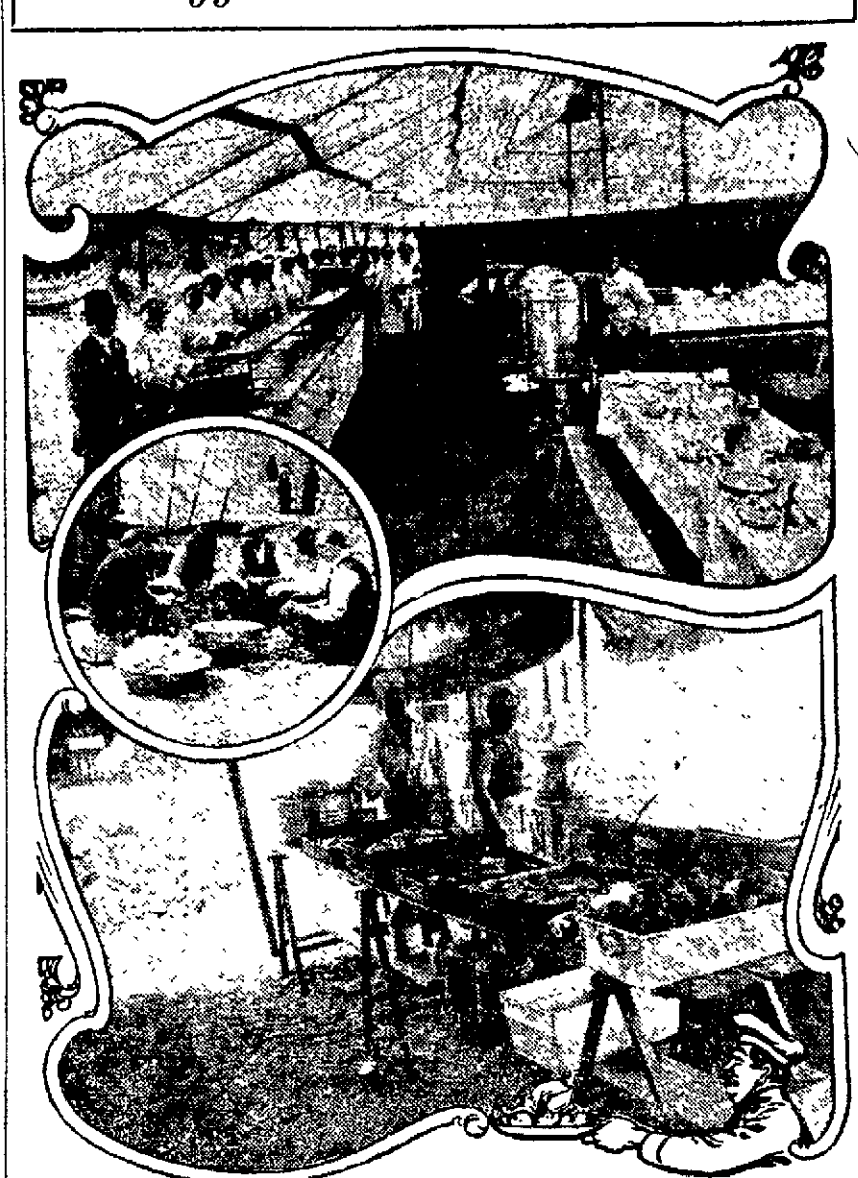

The Department of Agriculture has just issued an attractive booklet giving full instructions on how to secure the best results in cooking rice, accompanied by a large number of new recipes.

This is a free government publication and our Washington Bureau will secure a copy for any one who sends two cents in stamps for return postage. In filling out the coupon print name and address or be sure to write plainly.

Biggest Kitchen In World

Glimpses of culinary department of Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus.

Supervising the culinary department of a big circus has always been an arduous task, but when the undertaking has to do with an aggregation the size of the great new Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Shows Combined, it is said that all past performances are but child's play. Yet the feeding of the army of performers and working men who are part of this mammoth super-circus is accomplished with just as little fuss and noise as that which attached to either of enterprises whose best and lightest features are now merged into one. As has been the case with all departments, the most efficient men and the most practical equipment of both shows have been brought together in this larger portable "hotel." The feeding of the people of this great circus is an item of expense, which only thousands of dollars and perfect system can accomplish. The gigantic canvas hotel occupied by the circus people includes the largest kitchen in the world. A force of 100 chefs, cooks and waiters serve thousands of meals a day. The cooking is done on a range weighing more than a half-dozen touring cars, and in addition, there are pots of gigantic proportion heated by steam. Since the majority of this season's performers come from foreign lands, interpreters are carried and the chefs see that special native dishes are prepared for their benefit.

The Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows exhibit here Wednesday, Aug. 17.

TWIN CITY PEOPLE FAVOR BIG VIADUCT

Mayors of Neenah and Menasha Believe Their Cities Will Be Benefited.

Considerable interest is being shown by Neenah and Menasha residents in the proposed erection of a viaduct at Appleton. The viaduct as suggested would extend from the Riverview country club grounds to south end of Appleton-st. At first hand the project must be of considerable interest to Twin city people as affecting themselves directly. The viaduct if erected, would eliminate the dangers of "flats" and the steep hills. Aside from this the viaduct is of interest to Twin city residents and business men as affecting themselves indirectly. Mayor T. L. McGowan of Menasha, who seems to be heartily in accord with the project, told of numerous discussions he had had with men in Milwaukee and Chicago and other southern cities. When he asked them if they intended to come through the Fox river valley and visit Menasha or Neenah, their reply would in effect be something like this:

"Well your town is alright but we dislike to take our families and our cars through the 'flat' region at Appleton up and down the hills, there, past the switching places where something is being torn up continually and travel made unpleasant and bothersome."

Mayor E. C. Arneman of Neenah said: "I think it would be a wonderful thing and you can say for me that I think the sentiment of the people of Neenah is heartily in favor of such a viaduct."

"Of course the people of Appleton will say of what use is it to us to have Twin city people interested in our project—that will not help us build the viaduct." True enough, but if the benefits to people here, both directly and indirectly are explained and shown, there is at least a possibility that if the time comes and an issue raised as to whether they would help financially to erect it, that their interest in the viaduct would be embodied also in a more concrete form."

Ho Wong Says Japs Never Will Gain Control Of China

Chinese Laundrymen Here Like
Appleton Better Than Native Country.

Over in his little laundry on Oneida-st. sits Ho Wong. Whether sorting over sundry piles of soiled linen, making queer hieroglyphics with a marking stick he calls a "but," or puffing deliberately at an American cigar, there is one predominating thought in his mind. Some day he is going back to China.

When he was visited by a reporter for The Post-Crescent the other afternoon, he was engaged in laboriously figuring up accounts on a little counting frame, such as is used in American kindergartens. Perhaps the adverb "laboriously" puts it too strongly as his nimble fingers move the little wooden pellets along the rods so deftly that he ascertains the result quite as rapidly as many people could who use pencil and paper.

Ho Wong hears from China frequently through his son in Canton who writes at intervals. According to these letters there is no starvation in the neighborhood of Canton or in the whole of southern China. Reports of famine in north China are substantiated but in the south the rice crop is said to be bountiful and business is good.

Doesn't Like Japs
Asked how he likes Japan and the Japanese, Ho Wong strolled over to a cupboard in a corner of the room and took out a package of cigar papers and a box of tobacco. Having finished the process of "rolling," he tilted back in his chair the better to exhale the smoke and answer, "I like Japanese just like this cigar." I like to see burn up."

"No Japs never get China. Four hundred Chinamen to one Jap." Further than that the jovial Ho Wong was noncommittal. He felt that he had expressed himself and that no explanations were required.

Ho Wong doesn't remember when he came from China or if he does, he isn't telling. He has lived in San Francisco, Chicago and New York but he likes Appleton very much even though he complains that business isn't very good now.

Reads Chinese Bible
As to religion, Ho Wong is a Christian. He declares he never heard of Confucius but tells instead of the church in China where Chinese missionaries from New York told him about God and the Bible. A Chinese Bible is one of the meager stock of books which he carries with him wherever he goes. He does little other reading.

It is different with Ho Ling over at the Wah Kee laundry. Every day he gets his Chinese daily, "The Young China," which is published in San Francisco. It is attractively made up and has a generous advertising patronage. Aside from language it differs from the American newspaper in one respect only. That is, its pages are not divided into columns.

Born in China
Before coming to America, Ho Ling with his brothers and his grandfather was engaged in conducting a storage establishment called a "go-don." When his grandfather became too old, the business was discontinued and Ho Ling came to America. From San Francisco he went to Chicago where he conducted a Chinese restaurant on the south side. Deciding to try the laundry business he grasped the opportunity to come to Appleton.

He claims relationship to Ho Wong but did not explain the connection. He points out that their first names, which is their surname, is identical. Ho Ling is not sure that he will ever go back to China. His smile indicates that he is happy here and he meets all customers with a pleasant greeting.

He is quite content to make the queer little marks on the laundry lists which he explains are Chinese shorthand for shirt, collar, apron, etc., and to save as much money as possible by frugal living.

CARE OF HANDS IS IMPORTANT PART OF BOXER'S WORK

Tommy Gibbons Carries Rubber Ball to Strengthen Finger Muscles.

There is another of the stories that Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight, matched to meet Georges Carpentier and next logical contender for Jack Dempsey, is writing for the Post-Crescent.

BY TOMMY GIBBONS Light Heavyweight Contender

Oakland, Minn.—Hands are the most important part of a fighter's makeup. They should serve for another purpose than just to hang a pair of gloves on.

At the end of every blow is the hand inside the leather.

Yet few boxers take proper care of their hands.

They exercise their legs for footwork, their bodies for swiftness, their eyes for judging distance, their arms for swinging, their heads for ducking.

But they let their hands take care of themselves.

I found out the value of proper care of the hands a long time ago.

Just as Charley Padlock exercises his legs to break running records and Jim Barnes and Bill Tilden their wrists to win golf and tennis title, I give my hands special workouts.

Handball

I play a lot of handball. It toughens the hands. My brother Mike and I built a cement-floored handball court here at our cottages on Osakis lake.

I play every day now. A storm recently blew some trees down across it. But I had the carpenter on the job in a jiffy to rebuild it.

If you are going to have knockout hands you must develop them just as you do your legs and arms.

A fellow I don't remember his name now, advised me to take special hand exercises. That was six or seven years ago. I didn't think anything about it then for my hands had never bothered me.

A couple of years ago I hurt my thumb. I remembered what he had told me.

Grip Exercise

I got the habit of carrying a small rubber ball with me wherever I went. I keep massaging it until my hand gets tired.

On the street, riding on the trains, or wherever I am, I carry the ball with me and exercise my hands gripping it.

You'd be surprised how strong your clutch becomes. It hardens the little muscles of the fingers. Your grip becomes like a vise. And all the time you are developing the muscles in your wrists, forearms and even your shoulders.

Hardens Bones

My hands have never bothered me since I began this little exercise trick. Some boxers have trouble with their hands continually. After they fight their hands are out of business.

A bad hand has been the cause of calling off many a match. It costs a fighter money to have to wait on a bum hand to mend.

Johnny Kilbane has always had trouble with his hands. He's had a lot of hard fights and busted his sockets many times.

Hand Trouble

Of the heavyweights Bob Martin has hand trouble. Carpentier broke his hand when he fought Dempsey.

Most every fighter has more or less trouble.

Some of it may be due to brittle bones, but brittle bones can be protected a lot by developing the fibrous muscles in the fingers and joints.

Knockout hands must be tough—hard—strong.

This little habit of gripping a rubber ball is one way to get them.

If I'm going to knock out Carpentier I'll need good hands. And when I fight Dempsey I'll need a pair of iron mikes.

MOBILIZE ARMY OF FISH TO FIGHT MALARIA IN SOUTH

New York.—The Rockefeller Foundation is mobilizing an army of fish.

The fish will fight malaria in the south.

Cows will aid the fish.

REDS HOLD PRIZE ROOKIE PITCHER OF NATIONALS

CINCINNATI—Pat Moran has dug up the prize rookie pitcher of the National League.

He is Pete Donohue, Christian Brothers college, Tex., soonboy.

Donohue is the kind that come by once in a blue moon.

Right now at 20 he is a better looking prospect than the great Christy Mathewson was back in 1901, when he was starting his brilliant career.

Matty was a year older than the Red star and had been in professional company longer.

Donohue won his first three games for the Reds during July and earned himself a place on the regular mound staff.

Picking Pirates

He joined the Reds in June. He got his first chance July 1, coming in against the rampaging Pirates in the seventh inning.

Max Carey, first batter to face him, walked. Donohue promptly caught him off first.

Rabbit Maranville, the next man up, singled. Donohue picked him off first the same way.

Pitching against the Dodger veterans he fanned eight of them, and he is not a strikeout pitcher.

He beat the Giants in 11 innings with Art Nehf opposing him.

Donohue pitches a curve ball, a fast ball and a change of pace with the same easy motion.

Easy Delivery

His style of delivery is half overhand and half side-arm.

He is a corner worker like Jim Bagby of the Cleveland Indians.

Nothing about his pitching tips off the opposing batters what kind of a ball he is going to throw next. Nothing rattles him.

His ability to hold base runners close is uncanny.

No one had to tell him how to pitch when he joined the Reds.

Donohue has a lot of confidence in

Pete Donohue and his easy half overhand and half side-arm delivery.

Donohue—not cocky or boastful—but just sure of himself.

John McGraw compared him to Mathewson, Johnson and Alexander after seeing him go.

He is 6 feet 1 1/2 inches tall, weighs 170 and was raised in Fort Worth, Tex.

He made the Reds give him $3,000 for signing a contract.

If Donohue doesn't pan out to be one of the greatest pitchers in the major leagues every good judge of pitching talent will be mistaken.

Sport Views And News

Judge Landis has put Jim Vaughn on the suspended list and the veteran twirler is barred from taking his regular place on the Cub hurling staff.

However, Hippo won't suffer much because his contract with the Beloit Fairies call for a salary of $550 a month while the baseball season is on and when the curtain is pulled down on the diamond game, he will be supplied with an office job which will net on Boyle's thirty acres in Jersey him $300 bucks monthly.

Tex Rickard has renewed his lease city and the fight arena, scene of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout, will remain standing. The fistie promoter plans to stage a number of bouts in the Skerretville ring and he has startled the fans a bit by announcing that another heavyweight championship go will be staged there next July. Rickard is silent as to the principals but it is our hunch that Tommy Gibbons and Jack Dempsey will be the pair to lock horns.

The semi-final rounds in the Davis cup play opened today when the Danes and Australians opened their match play on the Cleveland courts. Next week in Chicago, Japan and India are booked to play. Uncle Sam's net stars are sitting tight, watching the proceedings but when it comes time for them to defend the trophy, they will probably open up so fast that some of the invaders will wish they were back home.

Jack Johnson is not wanted in New Jersey. The big black blew into Atlantic City and made plans for a three round exhibition bout. When the state boxing committee got wise to the move, it put its foot down hard and the tar baby was forced to beat a hasty retreat. If Johnson is wise he will go down into Mexico and pick up some easy change in the bull fight ring.

The cream of golfers in Northeastern Wisconsin are competing in the tournament which opened today at the Fox River Country club. Much enthusiasm is being shown over the play and it promises to be the most successful event in the history of the association. More than one hundred golfers participated in the qualifying round.

FORD LOSES BIG BUILDING THROUGH ORDER OF COURT

By United Press Leased Wire.

New York.—The Ford Motor company building here was sold Wednesday by the United States marshal to satisfy a judgment obtained against the company by the Hotel Woodward.

The building was bought by the Aetna Casualty and Surety company for $675,800.

The building used by the company as its sales headquarters here, is valued at considerably more than the sum for which it sold.

The judgment was obtained by the hotel company as the result of a contract executed several years ago through which the Ford company was to add to the building which would be used as an annex for the hotel. Judgment against the company was secured for $600,270.

The Aetna company cannot obtain public possession of the building for about 14 months, during which time it can be reduced by the motor company.

"Babe" Adams Sets New Mark In Big Leagues

Pittsburg—Babe Adams, Pirate pitcher, in winning from the Brooklyn National team on Tuesday, achieved his ninth straight victory for the season, and is said to have set a major league record. Wilbur Cooper and Burleigh Grimes have won eight in a row in the National league, while Byron Harris of the Athletics has done as well in the American league.

Watching The Scoreboard

Yesterday's hero: Leon Cadore, the Brooklyn hurler. He singled in the fifth inning and drove in the run that gave him the second victory over the Pirates in the series. Score: 1 to 0.

Ruth's forty-second and a pair of homers by Frank Baker, helped the Yanks to go back in first place with a 14 to 3 victory over the White Sox.

Seven hits, including a homer by Walker and three errors in the 7th inning gave the Athletics seven runs and a 3 to 5 win over the Indians.

After losing ten straight games to the Red Sox, the Tigers finally broke through and grabbed on, 8 to 4.

The Browns made it three out of four from the Senators taking the last game, 5 to 2.

The Reds and Cards split a double bill. The Cards won the first, 6 to 4, but the pitching and hitting of Coughbe gave the Reds the second, 6 to 3.

WHITE AND DUNDEE GO TEN ROUNDS TO DRAW

By United Press Leased Wire.

New York.—Charley White and Johnny Dundee fought a ten round draw here last night. On the same card Midget Smith won a ten round decision from Young Montreal. Johnny Duff won a ten round decision from Charley Ledoux.

TENDLER SCOUTS BENNY'S STORY OF BROKEN HAND

Philadelphia Boxer Says He Will Claim Title If Leonard Won't Fight.

New York.—Claim agents are beginning to go after another fistie title. This time the crown of Benny Leonard is going on the market for the loudest talker.

Lew Tendler, the Philadelphia lightweight, was to have met Leonard Friday night in Philadelphia for the title but the champion broke a metacarpal and the show is off.

The Philadelphia says now that all he wants out of the wreck is an x-ray of the shattered bone. If he can get evidence to support his contention that Leonard is not hurt he is going to "claim" the lightweight title.

For two years, Tendler has been telling that Leonard is not a lightweight, that he couldn't and wouldn't make 135 pounds. He insinuates that the champion found he couldn't make the weight agreed upon and ran out of the match.

Tendler is going to weigh in Friday afternoon and if the champion doesn't show up to go on the scales he says he might be forced to collect the $5,000 forfeit as bail for his wrecked hopes.

Leonard is silent and is referring all the dubious ones to the doctors who are taking care of his lame hand.

Tendler, in full sympathy with the promoters who have had to call off other shows in which the champion was billed as one of the principals, says he will fill in, and incidentally collect the purse that was offered to Leonard.

He is willing to take on Mel. Coogan and Rocky Kansas but he says not a word about letting Pinkie Mitchell take Leonard's place in the ring with him.

Jumping, Champ Almost Flies

Ned Gourdin—Greatest Jumper of All Times

NED GOURDIN, who set a new world's record for the broad jump of 25 feet 3 inches at Boston, July 23, literally aeroplanes through the air.

Fifty yards from the takeoff board he stands with both feet together. For ten yards he advances in a brisk walk. The next 15 yards he gains speed. For the last 25 yards he runs his best.

He rises with natural spring, like a big bird.

His left foot is brought up almost on a level with his chin. He draws his right up after it. Meanwhile the left leg begins to drop. Somehow during the leap he forces his left foot up again. This gives him the appearance of running in the air. This brings him to the top of his leap.

Coming down he pushes both legs far out in front of him to gain every inch. He lands flat-footed.

SEMI-PRO TEAMS EAGER TO BATTLE BRANDT'S SQUAD

Appleton's league team is popular.

Bids for games after the Fox River Valley league season closes are being received from all quarters by the management. J. H. Goodfellow, manager of the Marquette Base Ball club is the latest bidder. He wants a game with the Drandis as soon as possible after Sept. 4. As yet the management has closed no dates for post-season games.

MENASHA KEYED UP FOR SUNDAY'S GAME

Heath Is Scheduled to Try Comeback Against Brandt's Crew.

Spencer Heath, who defeated Hank Schultz in their last baseball battle, will try to down the Brandts again when they clash at the Menasha park Sunday afternoon. Heath is sort of an erratic pitcher, throwing great ball one day and falling down the next. He pitched splendidly against Appleton—one of his good days—and then fell down against Oshkosh. If he has a bad day next Sunday it will be curtains for the Menasha crew.

The Twin City fans are keyed up for the fight. Menasha has always regarded herself as a rival of Appleton and the fans flock to the park in large numbers to see the fun. Then Menasha is close enough to Appleton to make it easy for the local fans to accompany the Brandts.

The boys here were quite disappointed when Sheboygan called off the game scheduled for Wednesday afternoon. They wanted to see how they stalked up against the shore leaguers and the game would have been a splendid workout for them.

Considerable time is being devoted to night practice to get the boys in shape for Sunday's setto.

GIRL TEAM BATTLES MERCHANTS TEAM

It has been a long time since base ball fans here have had an opportunity to see a team of girl baseball players in action but this chance will be offered Friday afternoon when the West End Merchants, one of the strongest amateur teams in this section, stacks up against the girls team from the "Bob Finlay Cinema Girls company now playing at Appleton theatre. The game will be played at Brandt park starting at 5:30.

The girls have been playing amateur teams nearly every town they visit and know how to play. It is probable that one of the men connected with the company will work on the hill but the remainder of the team consists of women.

Schneider is scheduled to hurl for the Merchants with Sebabo on the receiving end.

ST. A. Y. M. TEAM WILL PLAY CARDINALS AGAIN

Appleton Cardinals will meet the St. Aloysius Young Men's Society in a return game in Jones park next Sunday afternoon. In a game early in the season the Cardinals walloped the St. Aloysius' society team by a score of 11 to 4.

Slump Month For Athletes

August is the slump month for athletic stars.

Golf and tennis, as well as baseball brilliants, slump in August.

Jack Hutchison won the English open golf title a few weeks ago. He hasn't shown his same form since.

Jim Barnes copped the American national open in July. He slumped afterward.

William Johnston, California net wonder, played brilliantly in July. He is slumping now. He always slumps in August.

Babe Ruth slumped in his home-running the first few days of August, just as he did last year.

There is a limit to the endurance of all athletes.

They burn up their dash and strength in the earlier months of summer.

August is the breaking point—the reaction month.

There's one advantage to a slump. It puts a thrill into competition.

Different.

Sammy Harris, who is sending his prize featherweight, Danny Frush, into the ring against Johnny Kilbane for training expenses to fight for the title, is looking ahead.

He made a champion out of Kid Williams. Then Williams left him when the money began pouring in.

Harris has signed a five-year contract with Frush which will take effect the minute he becomes feather king.

Frush trusts Harris. He is for him all the way. Should he snatch the moss covered crown from Kilbane's brow he will share his earnings 50-50 with the man who made him champion.

Sensible.

George Washington Grant, president of the twinkling Boston Braves, is a smart prey.

DELICIOUS AND REFRESHING NO game is finished right 'til thirst is quenched.

THE COCA-COLA COMPANY Atlanta, Ga.

When he hired Fred Mitchell to run his ball club he hired him for just that purpose.

Grant never interferes. He stays back of the wire screen and enjoys his team just as if he didn't have a dime instead of half a million invested in them.

That's the fun he gets out of owning a major league outfit.

Bored.

Earl Thomson, 120 yard hurdle super, unlike other stars, doesn't like public exhibitions.

Thomson keeps on entering meets because he is always in demand as an attraction for the benefit of track athletics.

Most folks would be tickled pink to be in the limelight that always floods the Dartmouth star.

Thomson has reached the age when he wants to tackle hurdles in the business world.

Personal Affront

"This is a personal insult which Lord Northcliffe will exact retribution for, if it takes his last pound," say close acquaintances of the publisher.

They say Lloyd George has small chances of having any disarmament agreement which he enters into approved by the British Parliament so long as Lord Northcliffe battles against him.

Not only that, but they point out that if Lord Northcliffe should set out to wage war on Lloyd George in America, he may go so far as to issue a paper regularly in Washington during the conferences.

For Lord Northcliffe has repeatedly said that the one way to bring about a mutual understanding between the two nations is for each to read the other's publications. And he has spent tens of thousands of pounds to encourage aviation, hoping that some day he would be able to deliver his papers in New York on the same day on which they are issued in London.

How it Started

Most people saw the conflict coming on shortly after the peace conference began to meet at Versailles. The Northcliffe press criticized the prime minister because of the following things:

The secrecy of the proceedings.
The tender attitude toward the Bolsheviks.
The apparent failure to make Germany pay in full for the cost of the war.

Nobody knew how these attacks were hurting the premier until he returned to London on April 16, 1919, and made an extended speech to the House of Commons, explaining what had been done at Versailles.

As a matter of fact, Lloyd George largely owes his position to the Northcliffe press. It was the exposure of the British need for high explosive shells that was made by the Northcliffe press, and their demand that Lloyd George be made minister of munitions that gave the Welshman his big chance in the early years of the war.

Also Northcliffe declined the premier's request to accept a position in the cabinet.

Since Lloyd George's April, 1919 speech the Northcliffe press has not only unsparingly criticized his administration, but insisted he ought to follow a program the chief planks of which were:

FIRST—The necessity for rigid economy in government and the cutting out of all waste. This anti-waste campaign resulted in several smashing defeats for the government.

SECOND—Settlement of the Irish question upon a basis of justice to Ireland.

THIRD—The wisdom of standing by France and understanding her fear of German plans for the future.

FOURTH—The vital necessity for the peace of the world that England and America should see eye to eye on such questions as disarmament and the problems arising out of the politics of the Pacific Ocean.

NORTHCLIFFE AND LLOYD GEORGE IN FIGHT TO FINISH

Publisher Laying Plans for Forcing Premier Out of Government.

By Milton Bronner

Special to the Post-Crescent

London.—It's war to the death now between two most influential men in the British empire—Lloyd George, the premier, and Lord Northcliffe, the publisher.

Lord Northcliffe made Lloyd George premier.

The question is, can the publisher unmake the premier?

Millions there are in the British Isles who will bet he can.

The issue will be decided either before or during the coming disarmament conference in Washington. Lord Northcliffe is opposing the apparent intention of Lloyd George to attend this conference as the representative of Great Britain.

"Of all the statesmen in Europe he is probably the most distrustful," the publisher says of the premier.

Whatever Lord Northcliffe had said through his papers and what ever Lloyd George said in reply was regarded as merely differences on matters of public policy until the British embassy at Washington personally affronted Lord Northcliffe.
